REMARKS

Typographical errors in claims:

The typographical error in claim 1 (conversational notes) has been deleted.

Amendments of claims 1, 3, and 4 and cancellation of claim 2:

- 5 All limitations of claim 2 are added into claim 1, claim 2 being found allowable but objected to for being dependent on a rejected base claim. Claim 2 is accordingly canceled. Claims 3 and 4 are amended for proper dependency. No new matter is entered.

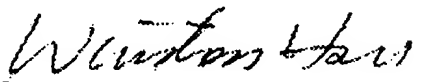

The applicant has the following remarks regarding the rejection:

- 10 Applicant respectfully disagrees with the Examiner's rejection of the original claim 1. The equation cited in step S47 of the prior art (page 2, [0025-0028] of Yi – US 2002/0015385) is the determining factor in whether or not to cause polling to be triggered. This equation can still cause polling to occur, even if the RCC PDU is a re-transmitted PDU. The claimed invention does not allow a re-transmitted PDU to cause polling to occur.
- 15 Nevertheless, since claim 1 has been amended, the applicant hereby requests allowance and issue of this application.
